

South Carolina Council on the Holocaust

Personal Stories of the Holocaust

SC Voices of Children of Survivors and Liberators

We approach the anniversary of Kristallnacht, the sentinel event and the turning point of the Third Reich, with recognition of its importance.

Kristallnacht marks Hitler's shift from antisemitic rhetoric and legislation to violent aggressive anti-Jewish measures that would become the Holocaust. We continue to need to hear from those involved. With many of these eye-witnesses now gone, their children step forward to tell the story.

What was and remains clear to some of us, here and elsewhere, is the knowledge that if we forget them, we too shall be forgotten. - Elie Wiesel

PROGRAM GOALS

This panel discussion will cover a variety of topics including:

- The stories of their family's experiences in the Holocaust the impact it had on their lives
- The perspectives of liberators who witnessed the results of the atrocities firsthand.
- The importance of Holocaust education and remembrance today
