SCCH Holocaust Art & Writing Contest

2021 Theme - Sharing Strength: Sustaining Humanity

Overview

The South Carolina Council on the Holocaust Art & Writing Contest for 2021 encourages students to engage in deep reflection about the experiences of Holocaust survivors and then engage in creative expression that demonstrates the results of their reflection. Most notably, the theme for this year is “Sharing Strength: Sustaining Humanity.” Many Holocaust survivors were able to endure the unimaginable suffering of the Holocaust as a result of their connectedness to each other and a will to live as inspiration for another to also survive. We ask that students consider this connectedness and will to survive as they listen to survivor testimonies and realize the strength that comes from these human connections that often sustain humanity.

Participating students may submit one entry chosen from one of the following categories: art, film, poetry, or prose/essay.

The following prizes will be awarded by grade level:

- Middle School (Grades 6-8): $500
- High School (Grades 9-11): $500
- Senior Scholarship (Grade 12): $1000

Only one award will be given for the best overall project at each level, regardless of the category (art, film, poetry, prose/essay) of the entry. Students may work in groups on an entry, but the prize must be shared among the group members. In addition, winning student entries will be posted on the SC Council on the Holocaust’s website.

All entries are submitted digitally through this online submission form. However, participants in the art category must also mail in their artwork along with a cover sheet. Specific guidelines and rubrics for each category can be found on the pages that follow.

*All entries from Berkeley, Charleston, and Dorchester counties will also be entered into a separately judged local competition for the Charleston area.

Prompt

1. Select and view one full-length survivor or rescuer testimony from any of the following:

- SC Council on the Holocaust Survivors Testimonies - These are testimonies from 37 Holocaust survivors who settled in South Carolina following World War II. We highly encourage students to use one of these testimonies.
- Chapman University's Holocaust Art and Writing Contest website featuring video testimonies from the collection of the USC Shoah Foundation — The Institute for Visual History and Education
- The 1939 Society
- USC Shoah Foundation - The Institute for Visual History and Education's YouTube channel ("Full-Length Testimonies" playlists only)

2. As you listen to the survivor's or rescuer's testimony, and as you reflect on the stories they tell, write down a specific word, phrase, or sentence that speaks to the inner strength of this individual and the role of connectedness in sustaining strength.

3. As the person now entrusted with this individual's memory, through your creativity in art, poetry, prose, or film, explore this word, phrase, or sentence as central to the survivor's or rescuer's story or your understanding of the Holocaust.

Rubrics

All entries for the South Carolina Council on the Holocaust Art and Writing State Contest will be judged by the SCCH contest committee using the same rubrics as those used for the national Chapman University contest. These rubrics can be found on page 4 of this document: Contest Rubrics

While these rubrics will be the guiding measurement used to assess the entries, there will only be one entry chosen as the winner in each division. Therefore, while a student may have the highest scoring entry in one category, it is the highest scoring entry of all categories within a division that will be awarded the top prize. This determination will be made by the SCCH contest committee.
